This column is worth more than $2.00 a year to you. Subscribe for the Gazette.

After all, the bean pole is more useful to this country than the North Pole.

Destroy all cocoons and all egg clusters found on tree trunks, branches, etc.

On cool, bright days, open the cellar windows—provided they are screened—and give the place a deal of fresh air.

The fall pigs should be kept growing but not too fat. They will pay to winter for feeding next summer. The early ones will go to market in January and February, if well fed.

There is no farm animal that yields as much per day as the cow. This indicates that the cow must be liberally fed, for it is impossible to get large milk returns from an underfed cow.

The man who has so little self-respect that he will allow himself to work around cows that stand in a filthy stable, lacks considerably of reaching up to the mark of a good dairyman.

Take no chances by having too many chickens together in one flock. If you see they are getting to be crowded in their winter quarters, make thrift and health a certainty by dividing them up, or selling some of them.

The man who wants to become a good farmer must not make the mistake of hiring out to a poor one. Never work for a man who cannot teach you something about the business. The successful farmer does not succeed by sheer luck. He succeeds because he knows how to farm better than his neighbors or because he makes better use of common methods.

Are you still a back number in allowing your henhouse to get filthy and dirty, foul-smelling nesting material, infested with lice and mites? Or have you become progressive, and by actual trial have found out how well it pays to keep every thing neat and clean and in a strictly sanitary condition?

A combination of fruit-growing and poultry raising is especially recommended in a bulletin from the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture. If possible, locate the poultry houses so that the runs will be in the orchards. The fowls will destroy thousands of harmful insects, thus greatly benefiting the trees and increasing the prospects for fruit, and the fowls will at the same time gain great comfort and benefit by the protecting shade of the trees.

Get pure-bred fowls; they will be more profitable than mongrels or grades. Select fowls for utility and individual merit as well as for the points that go to make up the standard fowl. Introduce new blood each year by purchasing a sufficient number of young roosters. Select a sufficient number of the best of the early hatched pullets to take the place of the older hens that have passed their prime. Maintain the vigor of the flock by careful breeding, and a long step will be taken toward maintaining good health.

Some farmers think it a waste of time to groom work horses in order to make them look sleek and shiny and would rather leave them in the natural state. It should be remembered that in the domestic horse more is demanded than in the wild animal, and consequently he requires a little more fostering to supply the wear of this extra demand.

With poultry, as with everything else on the farm, the management given is an important item in receiving the largest profits. At the start it is an item to select a good breed, one that is well adapted to the purpose for which the poultry is kept. One should begin with a good breed, one that is medium in size, good layers, good table fowls and good foragers, as on the majority of farms the poultry may be reasonably expected to pick up more or less of the waste food. If they do this they must have good constitutions, and be naturally thrifty.

The man who is carrying on diversified farming can not keep one cow for each acre of land he tills, but the dairyman can, and many do. They do not raise all the grain used, but are content to let their neighbor grain farmer raise the grain. They know that they can buy grain for one hundred cents on the dollar, and that their little dairy cows will return $2 in product for every dollar's worth of feed. They can better afford to spend their time in caring for the cow than in raising grain.

I read a little anecdote that meant something. It concerned a hired man who had been asked to walk five miles to do an errand for his employer and quit, because he was asked to do an unreasonable thing. He then hired out to another farmer in the neighborhood and willingly went to plowing a field not stopping to think that when he had plowed an acre and a half he had walked about sixteen miles and sown a heavy plow around about 400 corners. It was his habit of thought that made a five-mile walk seem like an imposition and a sixteen-mile walk after a plow all right. Some fellows are always afraid of being imposed upon.

The blackberry may be planted in the fall or early in the spring. But if planted too early in the fall young growth may start, which is likely to be winter killed. The soil should be well prepared and the plants set a little deeper than they were in the nursery in rows about eight feet apart and three feet apart in the rows. Some growers prefer planting them in hills seven or eight feet apart each way, thus finding them easier to control. Larger fruit is so produced, as they can be cultivated both ways. Summer pruning is important with the blackberry, as the lower the canes can be kept the better they are likely to come through the winter and the easier they are to handle.

The voice and manners of the youth today is raucous, selfish and hateful. They fear to say "Yes, sir" or "No, sir" in a pleasant voice for fear they be taken for imbeciles. Never was youth more cruelly cheated; politeness leads to preferment; with it all things are possible; without it discipline, everybody hates youth.

FRIDAY, NOV. 5, 1909.

"A rose by any other name would smell as sweet," and the voting on Tuesday demonstrated that which is true of roses is equally true of quite a portion of the so-called Democratic and Republican parties of Weymouth.

It is no use to guess any more on the election—it is all over, and the sun will rise and set according to the Divine plan laid down many years ago. Weymouth is still on the map, and its advantages, geographically and otherwise, are as good as any other commonwealth, so let us all take hold and push preparatory for the next year which will soon be upon us.

"Health Versus Backwardness," "Public School Education on Moral," "Lack of Moral Standards in High School Pupils," "Education Versus Health," "The Task of a Teacher in a Democracy," "Contracting Civic Training by Pernicious Examples outside the Classroom Exem-ples."

The above is only a part of the load which the teachers brought home from the convention in Boston last week.
They are all beautiful subjects and no doubt furnish a good field of thought to a person of culture and leisure but a large part of the boys of our schools in the natural course of events, while they should have good moral stamina, ought also to be able to figure out on a barn door, with a piece of chalk, how much hay a cow would eat in a year if she consumed twelve pounds a day, and also what the milk produced by said cow would cost per quart. In other words, do practical every-day arithmetic.

Monday Club.

The last meeting was on Arts and Crafts afternoon. Mrs. Overholser, who has been on the State board for five years as chairman of the Arts and Crafts committee, gave an informal talk. She interpreted the true meaning of Arts as the production of nature and Crafts, as the production of the human hand. The speaker illustrated her ideas. The speaker congratulated the Monday club upon its vote to place sewing in the schools. There was an exhibition, a good selection of articles from the Hingham Arts and Crafts society. These handmade products were carefully examined by the members and made doubly interesting by the explanation of Mrs. Overholser, who said the Hingham society stood the highest of any in the state.

The exchange table was well patronized and it is desired each member contribute something at every meeting, that this enterprise may prosper.

Mrs. Percy Bicknell sang a group of songs very acceptably.

The next meeting, November 14th, there will be an Organ Recital in the Congregational church, East Weymouth.

To the People of Weymouth.

I wish to express my great appreciation of the confidence in me displayed by more than one thousand voters at our recent election, and my deep sense of gratitude to those, both voters and non-voters, whose kind words and earnest work along with me, made this possible.

JOHN W. CHORIN.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

There will be no school today on account of the teachers' convention at Boston.

Nathan Ford has left school to work with his father in the agricultural business.

Sidney Bean of Barnstable '11 received honorable mention at the dedication exercises at Webster Hall for creditable work in mathematics.

Edna Schmitz has left school to learn millinery.

The football team plays Hingham high Tuesday at Hingham. The team is having hard practice and extra coaching in preparation for the game.

The report cards were issued Tuesday.
Those receiving four or more B's in regular studies are: Esther Bicknell, Velma Collier, Alice Cullen, Helena Kelly, Ruth Roby, Inez Wheaton, Robert Alford, Warren Bates, Louis Frederick, Harold Hawes and Leon Marsh of the senior class; Olga Bailey, Ruth Bradford, Louise Harris, Pearl McLean, Dorothy Taylor, Francis Carroll, Francis Conrick and Arthur Hollis of the junior class; Fanny Hollister and Ruth Shepard of the sophomore class; Alice Bentley, Edith Bicknell, Mildred Newcomb, Martha Trenell and Frederick Philbrick of the freshman class.

The senior physics class is conducting a series of experiments to determine the specific gravity of various substances.

DO IT NOW.

Weymouth People Should Not Wait

Until It Is Too Late.

The appalling death-rate from kidney disease is due in most cases to the fact that the little kidney trouble is usually neglected until they become serious.
The slight symptoms give place to chronic disorders and the sufferer goes gradually into the grasp of diabetes, dropsy, Bright's disease, gravel or some other serious form of kidney complaint.

If you suffer from backache, headaches, irregular spalls, if the kidney secretions are irregular of passage and unnatural in appearance, do not delay. Help the kidneys at once.

Doan's Kidney Pills are especially for kidney disorders—they cure where others fail. Over one hundred thousand people have recommended them. Here's a case at home:

Patriot Hayes, 62 Richmond street, Weymouth, Mass., says: "I cannot say enough in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills which I procured at the Weymouth Pharmacy. I wish it were in my power to have every kidney sufferer in this vicinity give this sterling remedy a trial. I do not wish to make a detailed statement concerning my experience, but I will say that I stand ready and willing at all times to tell anyone who is interested, just what Doan's Kidney Pills did for me."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents.
Foster-McMillan Co., Buffalo, New York sole agents for the United States.
Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO.

In the year 1884, the town of Weymouth and Quincy made, what was then the Fifth Norfolk Representative District which at the time was entitled to three representatives, and Weymouth, being the largest part of the larger part of the agreement, took the larger part of the representatives as will be seen by the following vote for the year 1884.

Weymouth Board of Trade.

The November meeting was held in Masonice building, Wednesday night, was well attended and not without interest.

The principal topic was, Would it be well for Weymouth to change to a board of Selectmen and also Assessors, consisting of three instead of five. There was a vote of the meeting taken as to the advisability of such a move. Other matters discussed were, Need of more street lights and cost of the same.

Refreshments were served at 8 o'clock and later on in the evening a general discussion of future committee work.

Tax-Dodging as a Virtue.

The most surprising thing about our tax business is the unwillingness of the average citizen to pay his share. Every device for evading taxes is welcome and nobody seems to lose caste if he invents a new and workable scheme for refusing his own taxes, although that simply means increasing the taxes of his fellow citizens; they regard him as a people shrewd and business-like. And yet there is no other country in the wide world where the burden of taxation is so light or where the results of government give so much liberty and independence and opportunity. We seem as a people to move along from day to day and year to year indifferent to the enormous advantages which are ours in this twentieth century and which are what our taxes go to pay for—Hartford Courant.

CARD OF THANKS.

The members of the North Weymouth Cemetery circle extend their sincere thanks to all who aided and assisted in making their late Fair a success. We remember all with kindness, those who donated and those who patronized. From the Fair we realized the sum of $255.00.
For the receiving tomb we have to date $1475.50. From the earnest words that have been expressed we have hopes that the necessary amount for the tomb will soon be raised.

A BIG OFF YEAR VOTE.

The Hustling Ended at 12.59 P. M. on Tuesday and the Guessing at 5.40 When Precinct 3 Returns

Came In.

The weather bureau was especially kind on Tuesday and gave us an ideal Indian summer day which was utilized to a large extent by the voters of Weymouth in exercising the right of suffrage. The polls opened at 5.45 and it was at once in evidence that for an "off year" the vote would be large in all parts of the town and the voting was almost continuous until the polls were closed at 1 o'clock. Counting immediately began and when the last box had been received at the Town Clerk's office and figures compiled there was a grand total of 2,297; the same being 14 votes less than the last Presidential campaign and 757 more than for the year 1907, which excess may be attributed to the warm representative contest. Following is the result in detail:

A COOL RECEPTION.

By JAMES CARTER SCOTT.

"Nothing at all. A man who makes a joke is a fool, whereas a man who makes a pun is a criminal."

"Then the man who writes what he thinks are jokes is a many-fellow?"

"No. It is a serious business with him."

"He has his ups and downs, then?"

"Yes. He gets up courage to write editors and gets turned down by them."

"You're not referring to the man who writes the column in the paper every day? Surely life is one joke with him?"

"No, it isn't. He thinks he's a humorist, but he's a pessimist. He'd rather be a humorist."

"Why, does a humorist make more money?"

"Well, he has a habit of climbing and often goes higher. Besides, the outdoor work is healthier."

"Isn't joke writing healthy?"

"Not when you're caught at it."

"Can a man write jokes and still be a gentleman?"

"You forget, Tommy, that our remarks are intended for publication and that I have many friends who write. Besides, I sometimes get off a joke or two myself."—Philadelphia Ledger.

"The One Who Knew." "Elijah," said the judge to the defendant, "you have had a fair trial. The prosecuting attorney has shown by circumstantial evidence that cannot be gainsaid that you were in the chicken coop on the night that his hen disappeared, and your attorney in his speech has practically admitted that the theory of the case is true. Have you anything to say before the court pronounces its decision?"

"Judge," said Elijah, rising politely, "all I got to say is this. I don't know much about the law, but I do know one thing. My lawyer says I'm innocent, and all the lawyers say I'm innocent. I oughter know, for I uze do know in that chicken coop at night."—Chicago Post.

An Apology? A London journal says that a lively discussion once took place in a town council in the north of England. One thing led to another till one of the disputants gave another the lie direct. The insulted party rushed forward, and the first man exclaimed, "I reiterate that you are a liar!" To the astonishment of every one, the aggrieved party let go his hold. "Oh, well," said the first man, "I accept the apology. If a man says he reiterates, that is all any gentleman can ask." He did not understand why the bystanders laughed, but the fight was off.

Anything to Oblige. While crossing the ocean the two sprightly children of very senile parents were sunbathing on the deck. "Tom, dear," said the mother in a weary voice, "the children are too near the railing." But he was too ill to heed her, and in sheer desperation he nudged him on the arm. "Speak to them, Tom," she said faintly.

With a wan smile he lifted his head and said, "Eh—how do you do?"—Ladies' Home Journal.

Village Gossip. "Is Squire Whetstone considerate of dumb animals?" asked a visitor of a local farmer. "No, sir," answered the farmer, "but he certainly speaks mighty kind of 'em when he's engineerin' a horse track."—Washington Star.

Hilarious. Clarence—I'm going to ask old Vavassor for his daughter's hand. What's your opinion? "Ask him to bring a few other jokes on his first and see how he takes them"—Exchange.

Despotism may govern without faith, but liberty cannot.—De Tocqueville.

Old Book Terms. The words folio, quarto, octavo, duodecimo and the like almost if not quite lost their original meaning. At the first they had reference only to the number of leaves into which the sheets used in making the books were folded. Thus if these sheets were folded once so as to form two leaves or four pages the book was called a folio; if the sheets were folded twice so as to form four leaves the book was called a quarto; if they were folded four times so as to form eight leaves the book was called an octavo, and so on.

Penitence. "I suppose you're sorry now?" asked the prison visitor, according to the Philadelphia Ledger.

The young man who had stolen $17,000 and spent it in sixteen weeks, replied through the bars, "Oh, yes," he answered, "I tried to cut too much of a spurge. The money ought to have lasted me a week longer."

Just Suits Him. "Friend—Why do you encourage these women's suffrage meetings? Surely you don't approve of them. Husband elected through the bars. "Oh, yes," he answered, "I tried to cut too much of a spurge. The money ought to have lasted me a week longer."

No Chance. "I think it's wrong for a married man to gamble." "It's worse than wrong. It's idiotic. His wife gives him tips if he loses and confiscates the money if he wins."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

He Studied It. Elder Haggard in "A Winter Pilgrimage" tells the reader that when his father took me up the Rhine by boat with the hope and expectation that my mind would be improved by contemplating its lovely and historic banks. Worrying of this sort very soon, I slipped down to the cabin to enjoy one more congenial, that of Robinson Crusoe. But some family tradition with tears that I hated rivers, I was dragged to the deck again. "I have made 6 thalers," shouted my justly indignant father as he handed me up the Rhine scenery, and whether you like it or not, young man, study it you shall!"

Much Married. The following, taken from "Evelyn's Diary" refers to a Dutchwoman who lived in the seventeenth century: "Towards the end of August I returned to Haarlem. They showed us a cottage where they told us that a woman who had been married to her twenty-fifth husband and, being now a widow, was prohibited to marry in the future. She was a Dutchwoman, and she yet it could not be proved that she had ever made away with any of her husbands, though the suspicion had brought her divers times into trouble."

Spiritual. Dear Creature speaking metaphorically—That absurd Maud Forsyth can't see an inch beyond her nose. The Other Dear Creature (speaking literally)—Perhaps she is dazzled by its brilliance.

After a short time she met William in the hall carrying in his arms a huge pile of sheet music, the property of her eldest daughter.

"What are you going to do with Ma's music?" she asked.

"Why, burn it, sure, as you told me to. It was in the closet there with the other rubbish."

"But I didn't mean the music. Put it back at once."

Noting his mistress's displeasure, William inquired in surprise:

"Why, hasn't she played it all?"

ON THE FARM

This column is worth more than $2.00 a year to you. Subscribe for the Gazette.

It is not possible by any known method to make dirty milk into clean butter.

Of all things, a horse hates to lie down in a filthy bed. By nature he is a cleanly animal. He is worthy of a good, clean bed every day that he lives.

Cuss words and clubs never were a source of profit in the conduct of a dairy and never will be as long as dairies are. Careless, rather, and the snarl of a tune are better milk producers.

A comparative test was recently made by the government officials at Washington on the bees which were grown in Germany for sugar purposes and those which have been raised in the United States. The results have been gratifyingly in favor of the product of Utah and Washington. The bees from home-grown seed have better quality and higher vitality, and seem better adapted to American conditions.

Never allow any fruit to remain on the ground, and when any is removed it should be fed at once to hogs, or burned to destroy insect pests.

Small should be thoroughly sprayed to protect the fresh, tender shoots as well as to kill fruit and tree pests or prevent fungous diseases. It will not pay to set an orchard and leave it.

The greatest profit in apples is in the production of the highest grades of fruit, which must be sprayed. The principal pests affecting the fruit are the codling moth or apple worm, and the diseases such as scab, rots, etc. Every year from one-fourth to two-thirds of the fruit is wormy, due to the codling moth. With proper spraying 98 percent of this may be eliminated at a cost of 10 or 15 cents per tree.

Make it a point to never allow any soil to get out of your field. The fence which crosses the lower levels may serve a good purpose here by setting posts, driving stakes, placing brush or planting grass or trees where the most water flows through it. It may be noticed in any field where a fence crosses a drain that the bottom portion of the fence becomes covered with soil which has been a rested in its downward journey. By making the fence extra tight in these places and reinforcing it to prevent giving it will serve the double office of fence and soil builder.

Nature knows what is best and has given the tomato a vine to cover her fruit from the burning sun. When we try to improve on nature by cutting away part of the vine to let in the sunshine we ruin the fruit if the weather is hot and dry. And the vines that are not trimmed will bear fruit of a better flavor. The tomatoes not being so strong and sour as they are when the sun shines directly on them.

The hay consumed by different animals does not vary greatly from 3 pounds daily for each 100-pound weight of the animal.

The following table is the result of various experiments by different persons, and will be useful to farmers who wish to determine by calculation beforehand how their hay will hold out for the winter: Working horses, 3.08 pounds; milch cows, 2.40 pounds; young growing cattle, 3.08 pounds; steers, 2.84 pounds; dry cows, 2.42 pounds; sheep, 3 pounds. All the articles enumerated in this food table are estimated as of good quality. If the fodder be of poor quality, more must be allowed.

In the majority of cases the sick fowl should be killed, according to an authority. Generally it does not pay to doctor sick fowls, and often the sick fowl that recovers is not one that amounts to anything afterward. This is particularly the case with fowls sick with the roup. This disease seems to permeate every fiber of the birds, and if they recover at all they are of little value for a long time.

The soil cover for an orchard is a very convenient one at harvest time in the matter of cleanliness in the handling of fruit, but in most sections it is detrimental to the best growth of the trees and the development of the fruit. Much can be done for orchards in soil that have not been doing well by merely breaking up this soil covering and giving clean cultivation, which makes possible a better circulation, of both moisture and air in the soil.

The hide and flesh of a young horse are more tender than those of an old work horse. If the shoulders of the young horse are allowed to become sore during the first season's work it is likely that they will be sore or tender all the rest of the animal's life. If the young horse passes through the first season without injury, the shoulders become toughened, and with good treatment are likely never to become sore.—Epitomist.

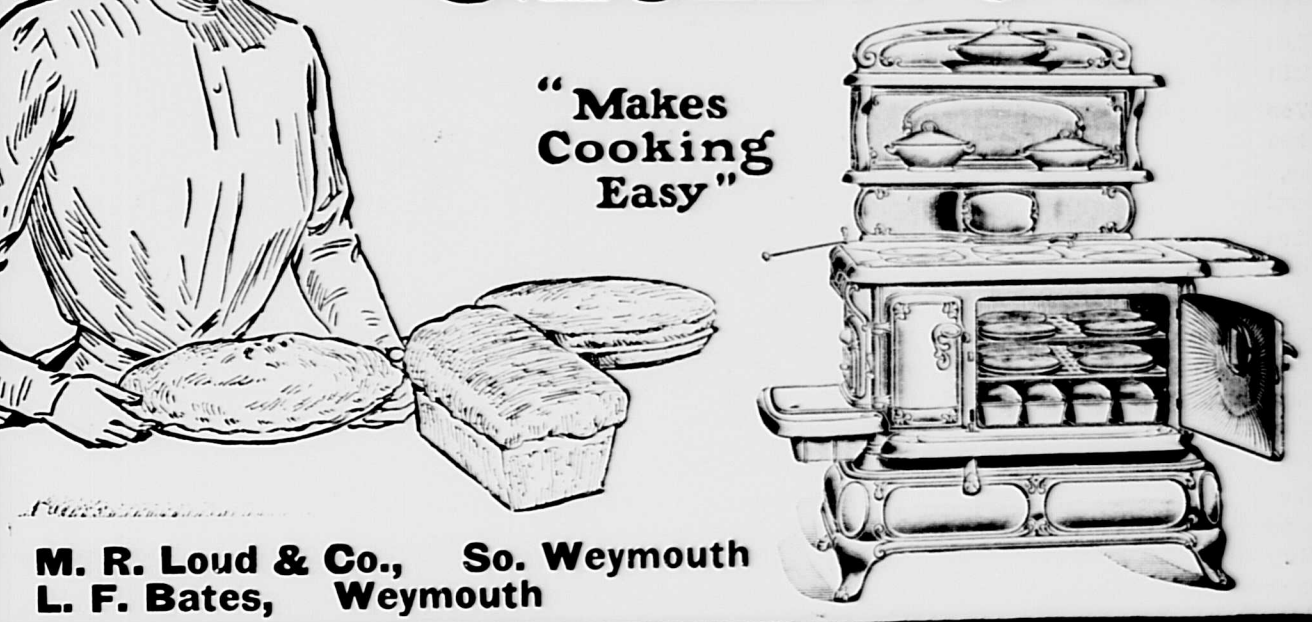

A WOMAN'S POULTRY PROFITS. Goodall's Farmer tells this little story of a woman's success with poultry. Her way of not giving her business away, even to her husband is quite unusual for a farmer.

"I confess I never paid much attention to the hens my wife kept, and indeed thought it rather beneath a man's dignity to look after chickens, until I had my eyes opened to my folly," remarked a farmer recently. "Six years ago, the drought in our section cut my crops so close that when I went into the winter, I found myself short of ready cash after settling up the season's business. I don't borrow from the banks and had begun to believe I had to face a hard situation. One night my wife said to me: 'I can let you have some of my egg and chicken money to help you out.' 'Much obliged,' I replied, thinking she might have saved up $25 or even $50. But when she gave me her check for $500 I felt like crawling under the barn. She had actually cleared up $500 from her chicken yard in three and one-half years without saying a word about it.

Most of the men who think the world is against them are so insignificant that the world has never noticed them.—Chicago Record-Herald.

He will return to the Indianapolis club in the spring.

—The Knights of Columbus are having a series of spoke talks at their rooms in Jackson square and that of J. C. Fraser, who gave a talk on the "Duties of the Medical Examiner." —The alarm from box 24 on Monday was for a blaze discovered in the attic of house 1106 Commercial street owned by Geo. H. Burgess of Hingham and occupied by Henry Miller. The fire department was fortunate in connecting with horses and made good time in getting water, the fire which had been somewhat left, in check by Mr. Miller and others and the damage to the building was reduced to a minimum. The origin of the fire is somewhat a mystery as no chimney, stoves, lamps or other heat had been near the place and rats, mice or spontaneous combustion of waste material must have started it.

—One of the prettiest dancing parties seen in Weymouth this season was the 24th annual of the Menotat Club held Tuesday evening. The hall was prettily decorated for the occasion and it was early in evidence that it was to be a very dressy affair many of the couples of the ladies being worthy of special and extended mention. There were guests from Hingham, Braintree, Boston and all the Weymouth Refreshments of ices and cake were served.

A drama entitled, "The Old Fashioned Singing School," was presented on Wednesday evening. The characters were: Julius Caesar, George Lincoln; Daphne Plunkett, Mrs. James Farrar and Squire Bellingham, G. Lewis French, who were assisted by a large chorus. On Thursday evening, a concert was given consisting of Miss Gertrude Cleaves, reader; Miss Harriet Clark, violinist; James White, baritone; Edwin E. R. Holbrook, soloist and Lawrence G. French, piano soloist. On both evenings, a supper was served in the vestry from 5.30 to 7 o'clock. The committees in charge provided tables of candy, punch, flowers, and fancy and useful articles which proved to be a point of interest to the large numbers gathered.

—Henry Scholz, who was supposed to be recovering from his recent illness, passed away quite suddenly on Wednesday.

—The many friends of Miss Elizabeth Sullivan, miss her from the daily Boston trips this week, as she has been confined at home with a severe cold.

Congregational Church Notes.

—The Ladies' Union will hold an all day meeting next Wednesday. Dinner will be served at 1.30 o'clock and the regular "social" service at 3.30 o'clock will be followed with an entertainment in charge of Mrs. George Farrar.

—Mr. Warren F. Spaulding, chairman of the Massachusetts Prison Commission, was the speaker at the Sunday night meeting and his subject was "The New View of the Bad Boy."

—The preliminary devotional exercises were conducted by the pastor, Rev. E. L. Bradford and his faith in a forum for disseminating general knowledge was emphasized. Mr. Spaulding, who has had large opportunities to observe the operations of laws governing juveniles and pertaining to juvenile criminals proved to be a very interesting speaker and gave much valuable information as to new laws and conditions in handling that class of offenders and removing them from associations with old and hardened criminals.

The man who keeps cattle, hogs and sheep and owns a measure-spreader will never be in fear of the fertilizer trust.

'Tis too late to set strawberry plants in the North, but currants, gooseberries and blackberries may be planted now if you mulch them well.

Many farmers never attribute the failure of their orchards to produce good fruit to lack of plant food in the soil but just let their trees drift along until they die.

Now is the time to fix up the hen-houses.

If you don't want to buy tarred paper, take some of the rolls of wall-paper lying around the house and paste over the cracks. It will make the place very much warmer.

Celery should be kept growing rapidly and without interruption. A check in growth will often make the plant go to seed instead of producing edible stalks.

There is no method of feeding which will increase the percentage of fat in a given cow's milk to any considerable extent, but there are methods of feeding which will make a non-paying cow profitable, very often, simply by increasing the quantity of milk she gives.

The best place to get good soil is under an old post and rail fence. Here you get soil and sod that has not been disturbed for years, just the kind in which plants flourish. Always have a small pile of it deposited in some out-of-the-way corner and you are always ready as for as suitable soil is concerned to pot or replot your plants.

We know when November arrives that winter is not far off. There will be a number of nice days this month, and advantage should be taken of good weather for repairing the houses, painting, white-washing, or whatever work might be necessary before real winter comes.

All persons engaged in the stable and dairy should be reliable and intelligent.

Children under 12 should not be allowed in the stable or dairy during milking, since in their ignorance they might do harm, and from their liability to contagious diseases they are more apt than older persons to transmit them through the milk.

Lewis Roesch, the veteran nurseryman, says the best time to plant everything except strawberries, black raspberries and perhaps peaches, is the fall, says from October 15 until the ground freezes up.

The next best time is as early in the spring as the ground is dry enough to work. In case the ground to be planted is exposed to severe winds or else is so damp as to leave in winter all stock had better be planted in spring.

The idea with many that, especially when in a hurry, anything will do to pot flowers in (it makes no difference) is about on a par with the farmer or gardener who plants in a certain place because of convenience, without regard to the character of the soil, and then grumbles because he has no crops. Flowers have life and must be properly fed with just as much care and intelligence as you give to your horses, cats or dogs or any other living thing.

My ideal of a farm is one which maintains a system of agriculture which builds up the soil to a high state of fertility, produces everything needed on the farm that can be satisfactorily produced and maintains not less than two principal industries as sources of revenue.—W. T.

Spillman, United States Department of Agriculture.

One of the best methods of keeping the poultry house warm in winter at small cost, is to keep the floor well littered with dry, cut straw, hay or leaves to the depth of from two to six inches. This protects against loss of heat and prevents cold currents from below, and may also be used to scatter the grain in to keep the fowls alive.—From November Farm Journal.

Peach, cherry and plum stones should be spread thin on high, dry ground in narrow rows and then covered with about 6 inches of fine earth, with a little trench on each side of the row to draw off the surface water. After the ground freezes a little fine horse manure may be spread over the frozen ground. If too much is used it will make a harbor for mice and rats. Apple seed may be sown in the same way, but will need a heavier covering. These seed will sprout and take root as soon as the weather turns mild, when they should be taken up and planted out in rows.

Hardly a rocky hillside in New England but might be made a gold mine, increasing in value yearly.

To insure this, there must be preparation of the soil, study of the subject of fertilization to make certain a steady, not over rapid growth. Cultivation must be kept up, and it is well to grow a crop in the orchard yearly for the first five years, at least, to kill down the weeds and make the environment. If this be impossible then every tree should be worked around, the earth kept light and open and fertilized yearly.

One of the secrets of the careful fruit growers' success in the famous apple val-

FRIDAY, NOV. 19, 1909.

The Duxbury end of things terrestrial predicted last summer did not materialize and we realize every day that "we are here because we are here," and according to the Old Farmer's Almanac, just out, 1910 will soon be here and will stay until succeeded by 1911. It is none too early to reach out for the events of 1910 by "setting our house in order," and making the most of the 365 days, morally, socially, intellectually and financially.

Thursday, the 25th, is the day set apart by the President of the United States and also by the Governor of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts as a day of Thanksgiving and Praise. Personally every day of the 365 in the calendar year is a day of "Thanksgiving and Praise" with us, the day of the coming to us to be thankful for, but next week we join the multitude in observing the special day and in doing so find it not only necessary but a pleasure to take a day off, and consequently find it necessary to ask correspondents and advertisers to give us their work as early in the week as possible.

Chance to Study Forestry.

The heads of all universities, colleges, and schools in which technical forestry is taught have been invited by Clifford Pinchot, United States Forester, to attend and send a representative to the conference on Education in Forestry which will be held in Washington in December. In his letter of invitation, the Forester says:

"I believe that a conference of representatives of all forest schools and universities and colleges in which forestry is taught might be made of great value in the general progress of forestry in the United States, as well as to the institutions which teach forestry, and to the Forest Service, which employs so many of their graduates, and which is vitally interested in the best training of foresters. Such a conference might well consider the objects and methods of forestry, the organization and standards of educational work in the field of forestry, the co-ordination of the work of different institutions, and the needs of the Forest Service and other employers of forest graduates.

"I hope you will find it possible to be present or to send a delegate to accompany to this kind of work, and with the concurrence of the institutions concerned, will be held in Washington, December 20 and 31, 1909."

From all over the country the plan has met with enthusiastic support, letters of acceptance having been received from nearly every institution to which the in-itation has been sent.

Living the Simple Life.

A number of men gathered in the smoking car of a train from Little Rock to another point in Arkansas were talking of the food best calculated to sustain health.

"One Arkansas, stout, florid man, with short, gray hair and a self-satisfied air, was holding forth in great style.

"Look at me," he exclaimed—"never a day's sickness in my life, and all due to simple food! Why, gents, from the time I was twenty to when I reached forty years I lived a regular life. None of

Monday Club.

The expression "the best yet" has been so often used that sometimes we think it loses its significance and worth, but when used in connection with the Monday Club, as held on the day from which the club takes its name, we feel somewhat warranted in using the term.

After the usual routine business the club listened to a musical program by Miss Ethel F. Raymond who added to her own ability as an organist, violin selections by Mr. Percival Shaw, and vocal selections by Mr. Willard Flint, baritone.

The concert was given in the Congregational church in East Weymouth and Miss Raymond represents the fourth generation of her family which has been prominently in the musical affairs of that church, beginning with her great grand father in the early 40's of the last century and on this occasion the talented young artist at the organ, constructed under the supervision of her father, demonstrated that nothing of talent had been lost in its transmission down the line, as her every movement received calls for encores and warm congratulations were showered upon her at the close.

Percival Shaw, a son of East Weymouth, has not appeared before his audience for some time, but in that time the people have not lost their interest in him, gave him a cordial greeting and were highly pleased to note that time has not been wasted by him, but on the contrary has been used for his betterment. In the line in which he is engaged, and each well rendered number called for more.

Mr. Flint is not an unknown singer to Weymouth people and those who came with expectations of a rare treat were not disappointed. Mr. Flint was not the program for two numbers but before the first he was swollen to five and the second was all the last applause brought from him.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

The Eskimo Dogs.

While the world waits for positive proof as to the rightfulness of the North Pole and pending a settlement of the controversy between rival claimants, we believe it is time to honor those other hardy Arctic explorers—the Eskimo dogs.

To these four-footed pole-seekers belong the everlasting credit of making travel and scientific exploration possible in the coldest regions of the earth.

Through their power and mobility the icy barriers of the North have been overcome and the efforts of men, who have risked their lives to gain the top of the world, are at last successful.

After many years of hardship, privation, and suffering, the humble dog has dragged his master to the much-coveted goal, and without expectation of reward or hope of glory. The part he took in the long quest may generally be overlooked and forgotten, but he will not white nor go mad about it. He will jog along in his ever-faithful way until he joins those other silent martyrs of civilization.

"No hope of future glory nerved him to do and dare.

No strong ambition lightened the loads he had to bear.

And while the brave explorer reaps his plentiful reward

Of fame and gold and honor, yielded to one accord,

What thank has he, the gaunt sledge dog,

Whose every step was pain,

From blue pools of cracked and bleeding, craved rest and help in vain—

Who, worn by toll and scoured by blows,

Hungry and tired and lame Dragged his victorious master up the slippery heights of fate?"

To School Boys.

The Massachusetts Agricultural College has recently issued an illustrated booklet which contains a large amount of interesting information about the institution.

Its object, entrance requirements, courses of study, equipment, student life, opportunities for its graduates, etc. It is illustrated with about twenty five views which indicate that at Amherst, a spot of un-usual natural beauty, there is located one of the most progressive and adequately equipped educational institutions of New England. It is also evident that the college is thoroughly preparing young men for positions of trust and influence in the various agricultural vocations. One of the noticeable features about the institution is that this fall its entering class numbers 120, and that its total enrollment of four year students is 315; both these figures represent an increase in attendance of over 100 per cent in the last six years. A copy of this publication may be secured by writing to the President's office and asking for the M. A. C. Booklet.

Orphans Hope Lodge.

The regular monthly communication of Orphans Hope Lodge, A. F. & A. M., was held in Masonic building, East Weymouth, Wednesday evening, and it being also the annual meeting for reports and election of officers, there was a large attendance.

A most pleasing feature of the hour was a reception from Mrs. Arthur M.

Raymond, of a fine life-size picture of Rev. Mr. Roberts read a strong article on Criminality in our city governments particularly by the bribing of officials in connection with the liquor and white slave trade. —The Women's Christian Temperance Union held a meeting in the Universalist church, Tuesday afternoon.

—Mrs. John C. Poole, of Rockland, spent a few days the past week with her mother, Mrs. Henry Lowell.

—The Jolly Eight club met with Miss Lena Lott, Monday evening and the whist honors were taken by Miss Lott and Miss Cora Fletcher of Rockland and Miss Lizzie Vance received the consolation prize. Music and refreshments followed the games.

—Rev. H. C. Gale of the St. John's church, Dorchester, will preach at the Universalist church next Sunday morning.

—The choir will be assisted by Mrs. Lena Thomas, violin and Mr. Elmer Shaw of Brockton, clarinet.

—The Arab Gunning stand at Great Pond captured 40 ducks last Saturday. This is without doubt the best shoot of the season for one day.

—R. Lott & Sons are making extensive improvements at their mill on Mill street.

—The gymnasium of the Union church has been opened up for the winter. Four teams have been formed by members of the Phi Alpha Pi club.

—Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Reed of Summer street have moved into their new residence in Brockton.

—Miss Theresa Lowell entertained a few of her friends in honor of her 17th birthday, Wednesday evening.

—A large number of Dewey followers attended the presentation of the Pennant of Old Colony League to the Dewey base club held at Pythian hall, Wednesday evening. A special car conveyed the party from the hall.

—The families residing on Randolph street, where it is known as "back of the pond" are happy over the event of having pond water carried into their houses and barns. Within a stone's throw of Weymouth Great Pond, previous to last week, obtained from the pond. No small wonder that it was a gala day for them when the water was turned on. They had a flag raising and music was furnished by Mrs. Elmer Belcher's graphophone. It took three weeks to lay the pipes through the strip of woods to the several houses on account of the ledges of rock which had to be blasted and the waterworks men are to be congratulated also on the successful job under such difficulties.

Old South Church Notes.
The annual Thanksgiving service will be held in the chancel auditorium on Wednesday evening of next week at 7:30 o'clock with sermon by the pastor, who will speak upon "Some Causes for American Thanksgiving as Suggested by Foreign Customs, past and present," and music by the choir. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

The pastor and Dea. George C. Torrey represented the church at the Installation Council of Rev. W. B. Williams at the Central Square church, Bridgewater on Tuesday.

The Ladies Aid society served a supper in the vestry on Tuesday evening and a pleasant entertainment followed, in which several from Rockland participated.

Union Church Notes.
The fall supper of the officers and teachers of the Sunday school was held Friday evening and thirty-two sat down to the tables. Reports were given of the Northfield summer school and of the State convention, and plans made for the winter.

Friday evening the young people of the church are to visit the Boston 1915 exhibit under the direction of the pastor.

The Phi Alpha Pi fraternity and the Knights of King Arthur have both organized for the winter and will make use of the church gymnasium.

The Village Study Club will meet next Monday evening, the subject being The Town Government that is Efficient.

Sunday morning the pastor will begin a series of practical helpful sermons upon Religion in Everyday Life. The subject next Sunday will be Religion in the World.

"Everything comes to him who waits", mused the man in a restaurant, "but it comes cold."—Life.Thrift and stinginess are not alike and do not bring the same results.Every person has two educations—one which he receives from others and one more important, which he gives himself.Yale Record—Summer showers—

Chicago Tribune.In 1860 we stood at the bottom of the four great manufacturing nations, namely, the United Kingdom, France, Germany and the United States.Forty-nine years later we stand at the head of the list, our manufactured product equalling that of the other great nations combined.It has come at last. Smoking by men is to be allowed in a church at Dayton, Ohio. Efforts to popularize the church in these days are advancing so rapidly that the church may soon become the most formidable competitor of the club as a place to go to have a good time.According to the idea advanced by Ex-President Eliot of Harvard college in hisaddress on the religion of the future every man will "make his own God, in a way." Why not let every man make his own law, too, civil and religious, and also make his own enforcement of those laws.
"Something of our make, just as good as the original," seems to be the label on this proposed religion advocated by the former president of Harvard.TWO SIDES TO EVERYTHING.
A little boy was given too much underdone pie for his supper and was soon roaring lustily.His mother's visitor was visibly disturbed.
"If he was my child," she said, "he'd get a good spanking.""He deserves it," the mother admitted, "but I don't believe in spanking him on a full stomach.""Neither do I," said the visitor, "but I'd turn him over."—Success.ENOUGH FOR HIM.
When the physician arrived at the designated house he found that his patient was a decrepit negro, who sat up in bed and inquired:"How much do you charge, doctor?"
"Two dollars a visit, which includes my time, experience, advice and the medicine.""A poor old coon like me don't need all dem extras. Just gib me 10 cents' worth o' your cough medicine, and dat's enough fo' me."—Judge.Ladies' Aid.
The following originated in New Jersey but there are other places.We've put a fine addition on the good old church at home.
It's just the latest kilner, with a gallery and dome.It seats a thousand people—finest church in all the town.
And when 'twas dedicated, why we planked ten thousand down;That is, we paid five thousand—every deacon did his best—And the Ladies' Aid Society, it promised all the rest.We've got an organ in the church—very finest in the land.
It's got a thousand pipes or more, its melody is grand.And when we sit in cushioned pews, and hear the master play, It carries us to realms of bliss, unnum-bered miles away.It cost a cool three thousand, and it's stood the hardest test; We'll pay a thousand on it—the Ladies' Aid the rest.They'll give a hundred sociables, cantatas too, and tests:
They'll bake a thousand angel cakes, and tons of cream they'll freeze.They'll sing and scrape and toll and sweat for several years or more.
And then they'll start all o'er again, for a carpet on the floor.No! But just like digging out the money from your vest,
When the Ladies' Aid gets busy and says,
"We'll pay the rest."Of course, we're proud of our big church, from pulpit up to spire; It is the darling of our eyes, the crown of our desire.But when I see the sisters work to raise the cash that lacks, I somehow feel the church is built on women's tired backs.And sometimes I can't help thinking when we reach the regions blest, That men will get the toll and sweat, and the Ladies' Aid—the rest.A Bake To Be Proud Of

A MARLBOROUGH STORY

The Great Singer's Lively Debut In an English City.

SHE DEFIED THE DIRECTORS.

Considering That She Had Been Shabbily Treated, Malibran Sang as Long as She Wanted to and Had a Most Satisfactory Revue.

Squarrels between opera singers and managers call to mind an incident in the life of the late Malibran.

When Malibran returned to England from New York and made her debut at Birmingham at the music festival as Malibran Garcia, Miss Paton had already become a favorite there and was allowed to choose her own songs and sing as many as she pleased.

Whereas Malibran was compelled to sing only what was assigned to her, Garcia bore the indignity with such patience as she could command until one morning she saw the announcement that Miss Paton would sing six and a half songs, both of which she would sing but two. Then it was that, realizing that much of her success for the season in England depended on her having a better place in the program, she stormed the directors.

In vain the directors endeavored to avoid receiving her, but she made short work of ceremony, and while they were framing an excuse to justify her she broke in upon them in a magnificent rage. In a jiffy she asked the chairman:

"Sir, have you sanctioned this program?" And, receiving a nod in the affirmative, she sailed along further.

"I had hoped," she said, "it had been issued without your sanction. For it assigns me two songs, both of which are hackneyed, while it gives my rival, Miss Paton, six. She has an established reputation here. Mine is yet to make, at least with your English audiences, and therefore if my preference should be given to any one it should be to me. On my success here depends all chance of my success in London. You forget this or do not care. You give me no chance of success, whereas all I want is justice. I want the same opportunity for displaying my ability as your rival, Miss Paton. Here you advertise me for Romeo. But I performed that last night, and the public will say, 'Romeo on Monday, Romeo on Tuesday, Romeo on Wednesday—Romeo, Romeo, she can do nothing but Romeo.' I want fair play—no more, no less."

Well, it was a great fuss. The directors endeavored to soothe her, for she talked herself into a great passion, but they made their mistake in pointing to the fact that the program was printed and could not be changed.

In vain Malibran argued that she should sing six or an equal number of songs with Miss Paton, and finally she went off in a great huff, declaring if they would not right her she would fight herself.

The evening advertised came, and the theater was crowded with the rank and file of Birmingham, as every one knew, and the English music festival would expect. The performance commenced. Some one sang, then Malibran followed, and finally came Miss Paton. As usual, she sang in a manner which was English music festival would expect. The performance commenced. $375 Mother's Oats Fireless Cooker and a complete assortment of MOTHER'S CEREALS - all for $284

The Mother's Oats Fireless Cooker actually cooks without fuel. It solves the servant problem, the fuel problem and the delayed dinner problem. It saves 80% of your present coal or gas bills, and 90% of your present kitchen worries. When you own a Mother's Oats Fireless Cooker, you simply place your oatmeal (or anything else that you want to prepare) on the stove, bring it to a boiling point, remove, place in Fireless Cooker, put the pad in position, turn the draw-string, and go to bed. While you're sleeping, the food will keep cooking itself. Nothing can boil over or burn or spoil. During the day you can start soup or joints or vegetables, place them in the Cooker, visit your neighbor, go to the matinee, or shop, without any thought of a hot, stuffy kitchen range.

Now, there is only one way that you can get a Mother's Oats Fireless Cooker, unless you want to go to a store and pay $3.75 for it, and that is by being a user of Mother's Cereals, the best cereals, prepared in the largest mills, and sold everywhere by the best dealers in every town. In every package we place a coupon, and when you have 125 coupons, we'll send you the $3.75 Fireless Cooker for nothing. If you want a Fireless Cooker in a hurry, you can either buy ten packages of MOTHER'S OATS or any other Mother's Cereals, and get the Cooker immediately by paying $1.15 in cash or upon the following basis:

- 50 coupons and $1.75 cash
- 35 coupons and 50¢ cash
- 25 coupons and 1.00 cash
- 15 coupons and 1.10 cash
- 10 coupons and 1.15 cash

But the best way of all is to go to your grocer and ask him to supply you with A Mother's Kit
which contains a complete assortment of different delicious cereals for every palate and for every meal. Not only is it an advantage to buy your staple cereals in sufficient quantity at attractive prices (just as it's cheaper to buy flour by the barrel or butter by the crock) but in every Mother's Kit there is in addition to the saving of quite a considerable sum of money, a special Fireless Cooker Certificate, equal to eighteen coupons, which, when added to the coupons from the packages in the kit, enables you to secure a Fireless Cooker by merely adding 89 cents. A Mother's Kit consists of eighteen assorted packages of Mother's Cereals, packed in sanitary sealed packages, in which they are guaranteed to keep in perfect condition indefinitely.

8 packages of Mother's Oats, standard size 2 packages of Mother's Yellow Corn Meal 1 package of Mother's White Corn Meal 1 package of Mother's Corn Flakes (Toasted) 1 package of Mother's Old-Fashioned (Toasted) 2 packages of Mother's Granulated Hominy 2 packages of Mother's Coarse Pearl Hominy

This Kit can be purchased at your grocer's by simply paying $1.95 (a little more at distant points). The grocer himself will either redeem your coupons and deliver the Cooker, or, if you so desire, send the coupons and 89¢ directly to us and we will ship the cooker to you, express collect.
